

System as a Transformation

Many systems can be viewed as transformations, particularly human designed systems. Indeed all human designed products and processes are transformational type systems. Such systems receive inputs and transform them into outputs. This provides a common framework for what appear potentially to be completely different situations but all can be visualised generically as shown.

©Burge Hughes Walsh 2010

Burge Hughes Walsh

Suite 13b Davy Court, Castle Mound Way, Central Park,

Rugby, Warwickshire CV23 OUZ.

enquiries@burgehugheswalsh.co.uk Email:

01788 550015 Phone:

Website: www.burgehugheswalsh.co.uk